

Agenda 2030 in practice - lessons from Brazil

Welcome to a knowledge exchange with guests from the NGO CETRA in Brazil.

18 Sep | 11:15-13:00 | GMV, Aschebergsgatan 44 Göteborg

How is the situation for socio-environmental NGOs in Brazil today?

What can practice and research learn from each other on the work with Agenda 2030 in practice?

Welcome to this meeting with guest from CETRA a socio-environmental NGO working in Ceará north-eastern Brazil. They are visiting Sweden for international networking and knowledge exchange and are interested to meet researchers and others with experience, knowledge or interests related to socio-environmental work in practice as: small scale biogas, rainwater harvesting, agroforestry, agroecology and social cooperation.

Mário Farias Junior work for CETRA a socio-environmental NGO in Ceará in north-east Brazil. Mário has 30 years' experience from social and technical development work from semiarid areas in north-eastern Brazil. He will share some of their work related to rainwater harvesting, agroforestry, agroecology, small scale biogas systems and social cooperation.

Leon Rabelo work with CETRA and assist their international networking. Leon is a PhD student in Brasilia with a focus on communication and transparency and an eco-tourist guide in the Amazon rainforest. Leon has also studied Music in Sweden and Brazil. He will translate the presentation by Mário to Swedish or English depending on the participants preferences.

Program:

- 11.15 Welcome by Maria Ölund Focali and Bengt Carlsson Bento50
- 11.30 Presentation by Mário Farias Junior and Leon Rabelo CETRA
- 12.10 Open discussion and exchange of knowledge with participants
- 13.00 (Optional) Lunch at Wijkanders restaurang and continued discussion

Please share this invitation to people that could be interested to attend.
The meeting is open to all interested but register to maria.olund@gu.se

